- Exclusive promotion opportunities for Audi at the exhibition center
- Cooperation agreed for two years
- Premiere at ISPO MUNICH 2012

Messe München International and AUDI AG have entered into an exclusive cooperation agreement for the coming two years. Carmaker Audi of Ingolstadt has been a premium partner of Messe München since January 1, 2012. The partnership offers Audi exclusive advertising space at the exhibition center and flanking opportunities for product placement, in particular at the leading international trade shows, which have high visitor numbers. Each year around two million visitors from Germany and around the world come to events at Messe München, which makes this venue an ideal platform for presenting the Audi brand experience and directly targeting the high-spending target group of business people.

"Audi is a strong and dynamic brand with worldwide appeal – it is a highly innovative company with an impressive history of success and expansion. This cooperation therefore brings together two powerful international brands – one from the automobile industry and one from the world of international trade fairs. We are proud that Audi has entered into this exclusive cooperation with us," said Klaus Dittrich, Chairman & CEO of Messe München International.

Peter Schwarzenbauer, Management Board Member of AUDI AG with responsibility for Marketing and Sales, added: "Messe München International draws in the crowds – not only in its Bavarian homeland but also in Shanghai and Mumbai. Its events bring people together to experience the latest trends and technologies, to network with each other and to gather new inspiration. Already we have seen, the very first time this cooperation came into effect, that these are two partners who have a great deal in common."

The partnership had its first public expression at ISPO MUNICH, the leading international sports business trade show, which was held recently in Munich. Audi presented two sports models in the entrance area at Messe München, provided a fleet of vehicles for the VIP shuttle service and was the exclusive promoter on prominently located advertising spaces.
